Jordan arrived here to-day from Liverpool on the Lucania. He was met at the pier by Martin owling, who will act as his manager.

The little Englishman is fairly consumed with a desire to win Terry's laurels and came over for the express purpose of fighting the Brooklyn lad here before the Horton law goes out of effect Sept. 1

To an Evening World reporter Jordan said:

"I am very much disappointed to learn on my arrival here that McGovern is to become an actor. I came over to every opportunity to go through a daily fight him and will take no notice of any inducements to fight any one else. "I will agree to meet McGovern at
